

November 2024

Fresh, seasonal, regional

To ensure that our guests have a good time, we cook fresh and happy to use regional products from the surrounding area. Of course, we use regional products for our dishes wherever possible. This is not a promise, this happens automatically, because sustainability and respect for the product characterize our actions. Quality, sustainability and freshness are our top priority. Of course, the season also determines our offering and its origin.

The dough of our house bread has a long resting time. We consistently avoid artificial flavors, thereby putting the natural taste in the foreground.

We also do without convenience products in our house.

We like to work with German winemakers on our wines. In our country there are countless vineyards where beautiful vines grow for fabulous wines and we would like to show you that too. So sit back, take your time and enjoy!

You will receive the drink recommendations for today's dishes through our service.
